

CHILL Talent Office – Employee Commercial Accounting - OCI Nitrogen

OCI Nitrogen is one of the market leaders in nitrogen fertilizers in Europe and the largest producer of melamine worldwide. In addition, OCI is currently one of the few producers processing and distributing renewable (green) ammonia.

When you join the OCI team, you will have the opportunity to make a difference every day while building your career. At OCI, you can also contribute to a sustainable living environment. Our fertilizers help put food on the table every day. With our melamine, we provide sustainable products such as tables, chairs, laminate, and cars. You encounter our products in your daily life without even realizing it!

Our strong focus on sustainability is also reflected in our emissions. We continuously invest in the best available technologies to minimize emissions wherever possible. These investments ensure that our emissions are among the lowest compared to our global competitors. Recently, we have also added AdBlue to our product portfolio. AdBlue is a solution used in diesel engines to reduce harmful emissions of nitrogen oxides (NOx).
